Schedule F, Part I, Line 2 - All program activities conducted at the local level in Kenya are monitored and reviewed by local Pangea staff, an accountant, and by Pangea HQ staff and board. Monthly requisitions for funding are received from the Kenya team, per the approved budget for the year, and once approved, those monthly funds are wired to cover the month's program and administrative expenses. A monthly review is conducted by the accountant in the region, reviewing receipts and expenses against the budget and sends an actual expenditure report, along with bank statements to the U.S. HQ, which are then reviewed. Also, per Kenyan law, the Kenyan books are audited annually by an independent auditor. For women's cooperatives in Kenya that are receiving revolving funds, program staff conduct monthly monitoring of all active women's cooperatives and review financial statements, along with random business site visits. Pangea HQ staff visit the Kenya office on an annual basis for site and cooperative visits with staff. The team also reviews all policies and procedures and conducts performance reviews annually. Program investments of $30,032 are funds that have been given to cooperatives after their six-month training is completed. These funds are disbursed as revolving funds for women to start and grow businesses and increase income levels and overall quality of life.

	TUDAI - Pangea's Adolescent Sexual and Reproductive Health program continued its growth of this program by beginning to work with a new cohort of 375 girls in three western counties of Kenya. The primary goal of the TUDAI program is to empower adolescents to make informed decisions about their sexual and reproductive health, aiming to reduce vulnerabilities and ensure the protection of their rights. The initiative seeks to instill a shared sense of responsibility within communities to support girls in completing their education and leading successful lives. The project first engaged community leaders and stakeholders to hear their perspectives on the topic and issues affecting young girls and ensure the communities were ready to support these efforts. The team then invited parents and guardians to trainings to share the program and hear from them what they see the issues are and get their support for beginning dialogue around the topic with their children and others. The team utilized the previously trained Peer Educators from each of these communities to conduct a series of workshops with 375 girls in August and December of 2023.	42,478	4,440	0
